

VASHON ISLAND NEWS-RECORD

VOLUME IV.

VASHON, KING COUNTY, WASHINGTON, THURSDAY, JANUARY 22, 1920.

NUMBER 14.

DOCKTON

The tug "Echo" underwent repairs on the drydock last week.

Miss Lucy Myers spent the week end at her home in Bellingham.

Mr. Richard Nilsen, who has been seriously ill for some time, is reported to be improving.

A large number of Docktonites are on the sick list with colds or other ailments more or less serious.

Mr. Theo. Berry has been appointed registration officer of this precinct to succeed Mr. Turnbull, who resigned.

Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Panchard will leave for Long Beach, Cal., on Friday, Jan. 23rd, on the steamer "Governor."

Miss Ebb Petersen, who has recently completed her high school course at Burton, is attending a business college in Tacoma.

Rev. Martin, district superintendent of the Methodist church, will have charge of the services on next Sunday evening at 7:30. There will be special music.

From the looks of things now it will soon be necessary to have another hotel in Dockton. At present both hotels are crowded, as well as private houses, and new men are coming in every day.

Another shipyard for Dockton! Work has commenced on the Pankratz waterfront property here for the building of a shipyard for small craft. The owners have six contracts and will start the work as soon as the yard is ready.

COVE

Miss Ruth Abrams is making quite a visit with her sister in Bellingham.

Mrs. Frank Elden has been spending a few days the past week with her mother in Tacoma. And Frank has been like a lost chicken in the woods.

Mrs. B. J. Fjeldahl took one of the little girls over to the city to have a tooth pulled. When she returned she brought Bert, her good man, with her for an over Sunday visit. Glad to see you, Bert.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Sundberg's two little girls are ill with the measles. They are doing nicely. Our community has been so healthy that it has been a long, long time since we had a case of sickness.

Knute Paulson has also been doing some stamp shooting. He likes to do things big—put about forty pounds of dynamite under a giant stamp. While he didn't blow it all out, it was splintered in four quarters as slick as a ribbon.

E. O. Rindal spent Saturday in Seattle consulting a dentist. We wonder if he was like one other of our good folks who went over to consult a veterinarian about such work. Some people have queer notions about some things, anyway.

Bert Saterbo recently purchased a 5-acre tract near Colvos from E. O. Rindal. We understand he, too, intends to build in the spring. There seems to be some sort of a magnet which pulls him down toward South Cove quite often. We wonder what?

The Cove Farmers' Loan Association, which was to have met on Saturday evening in their annual session, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Thomason, was adjourned on account of the stormy night.

For a business education investigate Success Business School, Seattle, Wash.

WANTED

Twelve or fifteen head of young stock. Will pay cash and the highest market price. Anything from four months old to two years old. R. B. Hayes, Portage. Phone Blk. 1153.

38-9-0-1

to 11:00 a. m., Monday at the Vashon State Bank.

If you had seen H. O. Thomason's old orchard last week, the way the trees were uprooted and scattered around, you would have thought that a Mexican earthquake had struck it. Blossoming time and harvest seasons have passed many times—no fruit; so why cumbereth them the ground? So reasoned Mr. T.

Mrs. A. C. Moe celebrated her birthday anniversary last week. The Rindal family were guests of honor and helped make the occasion one of joy and pleasure. Mrs. Moe received a nice birthday gift from her son in far-away Alaska. Surely such a son is one to be proud of.

Mr. Conrad Anderson came over from Seattle to see his wife and the little folks at the Edwards home. He is father-in-law. He has all the cellar dug, and by the time the flowers are blooming you'll see another fine bungalow go up on that beautiful plateau overlooking the Cove dock.

Mr. John Tronas met with quite a serious accident while working as longshoreman in Seattle. A large box slipped from the rope carrier used in hoisting freight, and in falling caught him on the foot, breaking several bones. The mishap will lay him up for some time. If he had been stooping over when the box fell he would have been killed, he said.

P. A. Petersen has purchased from E. O. Rindal the entire property, buildings and tidelands, known as Cove. A big two-story and basement building, with electric lights, hot and cold water in living rooms above. Two large warehouses and the stock on hand he bought several years ago, and he has greatly increased in all lines. The business has grown by leaps and bounds, due in great measure to his fine business ability and the prosperity of the ranchers around Cove. He buys his stock by the carload, two-and-three at a time. The gentlemanly ways, the kind and courteous treatment extended to all, both by himself and his brother Axel, has made it a pleasure to do business with them. We are sure we voice the feelings of all in wishing success and prosperity to Mr. Petersen in his new venture. The deed was passed on Jan. 1, 1920; the price paid, while it runs into four figures, we are, not at liberty to state.

COVE COMMENTS

The way in which the Peace Treaty and League lags is simply disgusting. If the president and senators are so obstinate that they cannot give way a little on both sides and bring the matter to a head, it is high time that a national referendum is had on the question. Senator Hiram Johnson of California is in favor of this plan, which is sensible and should be adopted without delay, and without waiting for the general election in November.

He kept us out of war. Will he keep us out of peace?

Every now and then the ladies in various parts of the country go on strike and boycott prominent articles of daily consumption in an attempt to lower the cost of living. But there is no let-up on the luxurious articles of feminine apparel. Whatever is the fashion settles it, and cost does not figure in the outcome. Of course we all like to see a woman well dressed and looking her best, and in the fashion without extremes. But consistency demands more than the boycott of a few prominent articles.

The sugar question is a vital one to all, and especially to the fruit-grower. In the past year the price was not only prohibitory but it was impossible to get an adequate supply for the family canning. This year it is going to be worse, and it looks as though 17 to 25-cent sugar will be the rule.

AN ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING

Petition For Paved Road Is Being Generally Signed

The meeting of the improvement district held at Center on Wednesday evening of this week was a great success. About 100 were in attendance, including both men and women.

Col. Howard A. Hanson, chief deputy prosecuting attorney, gave a detailed explanation of the Donalson law. Many questions were asked which he cheerfully answered and every proposition that was put to him was explained so clearly that no one could fail to see the great benefits which would come to the property owners through the paving of the main highway on Vashon Island.

County Commissioner Lou Smith answered many questions regarding the improvement of roads in general.

The question is, why? I have read that the commission in control of sugar last year advised President Wilson that it was desirable to buy the Cuban crop when it was about 6 cents per pound, and the communication was ignored; also later a second advice was sent the President, when part of the crop had been sold to Europe at an advanced price.

Still without results, and as the President had the final say-so in the matter, nothing could be done. Result is that the sugar trust in this country has set the price, and we can pay it or go without. There's not such a real shortage of sugar as one might imagine, for while you may be able to buy only 2½ pounds per person per month, you can buy a ton of candy if you wish. And even granting that the candy manufacturers do use glucose and corn syrup, etc., they certainly use an enormous quantity of sugar, and that is where the sugar goes. Figure it out for yourself.

PORTAGE

Mrs. J. L. Masterson was a Tacoma visitor on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Ireland and children are here from California

When the trustees' reports were read it was found that about two-thirds of the necessary names have already been obtained.

It was also explained that when the road is paved the maintenance of it will be practically negligible as compared with the present cost of maintenance, and that the men now required to keep the main highway in repair will then be free to work on other roads. This will ultimately mean good roads all over the Islands.

After the meeting a vote of thanks was tendered Col. Hanson for the effort he had put forth in behalf of the residents of Vashon Island.

Let us not forget that Col. Hanson's suggestion to call this road "Vashon Highway" is a good one.

No, we did not have the opportunity to grasp the hand of General Pershing and bid him "thrice welcome to our city." But we coveted the pleasure and the honor.
General Pershing ranks high as an officer and in the esteem of the people of this nation. It can truly be said, "He IS an American."

The Bank of North Dakota, the Non-partisan League Bank, has been in operation over six months;
but, according to a statement issued by F. W. Cathro, director-general of the bank, is having a difficult time to handle the farm loan work. Mr. Cathro's statement reveals that only $127,612 has been loaned to the farmers in first real estate mortgages during the six months period, while there are on-file 1,858 applications for loans, the total asked by the farmers being $8,071,991. Only 1.6 per cent of the loans applied for have been made by the bank, according to Director Cathro's own statement.

The fact that the state failed to negotiate the sale of $3,000,000 of its bonds when it dickered recently with Chicago and New York concerns is accepted as the real cause of the bank's failure to date to clear any part of the loans asked.

One colony of bees consumes

a year for its own use.

Hot lunches for school children,
"make-over" schools of millinery,
and a statewide make-and-mend-your-own-clothing campaign centering upon the use of both homemade and commercial dress forms are items in the general summary of recent work done and projects undertaken in Washington by Miss Maud Wilson, state leader of home demonstration agents, State College, Pullman.

According to announcement by E. G. Anderson, chairman of the nation-wide campaign of the Episcopal church, the minimum wage for clergy has been set at $150 per month or $1800 a year. This is a needed reform. Preachers are in this day and age entitled to a living wage.

The American Legion of the big membership drive for the first week in February. It is hoped to secure the membership of all returned service men who have not yet joined the Legion. The objects of the organization as set forth in its constitution, are:

"To uphold and defend the Constitution of the United States of America; to maintain law and order; to foster and perpetuate a one hundred per cent Americanism; to preserve the memories and incidents of our association in the Great War; to inculcate a sense of individual obligation to the community state and nation; to combat the autocracy if both the classes and the masses; to make right the master of might; to promote peace and goodwill on earth;
to safeguard and transmit to posterity the principles of justice, freedom and democracy; and to consecrate and sanctify our helpfulness."

Mrs. Strong and her guest, Miss Adams of Minneapolis, Mrs.
Niece, Mrs. Morgan and daughter were going over to see General Pershing?

We have Captain Good back on the Virginia. He is one of the boys who has a pleasant smile and whom all like.

Mr. Geo. Leekley has been absent this week. He made a business trip to Oak Harbor, where he has extensive logging interests.

Mr. Swanson will start clearing the Stewart tract in a few days.
Mrs. Stewart will build a fine, new home on this tract as soon as the work of clearing is completed.

We shall miss the ferry to the North End, but know it will be as spick and span as a new dollar when again placed on this run after being overhauled and inspected.

SCHOOL NOTES

BURTON

Basket Ball

On last Friday night, Burton
High School came one step nearer the county championship by winning both their games from Foster.
The girls' game was good. Burton won 18-9, thru superior team work and shooting. Ruth Tjosdal was the star of the game. Fifteen of Burton's points were credited to her.

The boys' game was far too one-sided to be interesting. Burton won 87-16. Geo. Vye playing center for Burton was by far the shining light. He made a record that will stand for sometime.
Shooting baskets from all angles
he caged the ball 29 times for a total of 58 points.

The next game will be played
Feb. 30th at Burton. This game will be one of the best of the season.
Let's have a good turn out.
The teams need your support and at the same time will appreciate it.

By the way readers, where will be the best place to put the cup?

VASHON HEIGHTS

Mr. and Mrs. Niece and family were visitors in the city on Wednesday.

guest of Mrs. Clyde Dodds in Seattle during the week.

Miss Jessie Mustard intends to build a new home on her beach property west of the dock.

at the North End on Tuesday for inspection and repairs.

Mr. Christiansen, captain of the Virginia IV, will deliver about 20,- 000 feet of lumber for the Malloy home at Biloxi.

Mr. Vernon Ramsey will start at once clearing his five-acre tract at the Heights which he recently purchased.

Mr. Lindley and Jack Whittle have been clearing the street at Biloxi, and it will be a great improvement when completed.

We understand that Mr. A. D.
Cowan has disposed of his hotel in Seattle and will devote his time to improving his property at the North End.

We noticed on the ferry, Tuesday: Mrs. Leekley and daughter Mary, Mrs. Clarence Bragg, Mrs.

Catch Millionaire Draft Dodger

The "millionaire draft dodger" has been caught, proving again that Uncle Sam never quits when he starts after a man. He is Grover C. Bergdoll of Philadelphia, who is said to be worth millions in his own right. He was caught at his home last week, when federal officers surprised in raid. The mother, shown climbing into the "Black Betsy" on the way to police station, shot a federal officer before being disarmed. Bergdoll evaded officers for two years.

FOR WINTER WEAR

Jumper of Duvetyn and "Wooly" Are of Interest.

Practical Construction and Warmth the Uppermost Features in Garments for Present Season.

Two fashions that are of interest to view of the cold weather are the jumper of duvetyn and the "wooly" from London, says a writer in the New York Herald.

The name "wooly" is just such a one as might be expected from London, for the English are very clever in their way of finding names for things. "Wooly" is the name given the frocks of knitted material, very fine knitting, or possibly of a Shetland shawl, but in either case just the thing that our English cousins would consider the correct thing for winter.

Dressing in woolens is the usual thing in England, where a light waist in winter is far more infrequent than a fur coat might be in the middle of a hot August day on this side of the water. The "woolies" are shown in the shops here in very attractive colors, gray, with scarlet rosette, or in white with rosettes of yellow.

The jumpers may or may not be of English origin; however, as they are of the practical construction and warmth that the English women like, they are being very much worn by them.

Gray jersey is the material of one of these blouses seen in a Fifth avenue shop. It is cut with a convertible neck outlined in wool embroidery in brown and about the bottom of the fairly long pepum there is a very wide band of the same embroidery. This is a slipover model and the pepum is formed by a simple narrow girdle of the gray jersey finished at the ends with tassels of the brown wool.

The dull colors seem to be the better liked-in these blouses, and another blouse is of mole colored jersey with the embroidery at the girdle instead of at the bottom. The pepum or lower section of this blouse is as closely fitted as appears easy, and the upper part is gathered into the embroidered girdle, which is composed of blocks of color done in cross stitch in peacock blue and gold color. The cuffs and the collar are edged in the same manner.

IN FASHION LAND

Finely plaited ruffles are extremely smart.

Black velvet is used for many trim frocks.

Vests with neckbands are worn with turbans.

No material is more popular than duvetyn.

Metal buckles appear on many winter suits.

Bright red is a favorite color for evening gowns.

Dainty blouses have little aprons front and back.

Every airy little dress has to have its touch of lace.

Shiny black satin ribbon is much used as binding.

Mole waistcoats are excellent with brown velvets suits.

Leather is used in hats for storm weather or sports wear.

Some of the finest suits are intended to be worn without any furs whatever.

Black frocks are worn merely as backgrounds for brilliant brocade vests or girdles.

Many of the smart evening gowns use as trimming large wreaths of flowers and foliage.

A Fad.

Leather trimming has risen to the first rank in popularity. It is handled in the most unusual ways and the result is charming. Sometimes it is a narrow strip of belt colored in a daring contrast to the gown. Again it is used as satin or velvet would be for outside facing on collars, shoulders and pockets. The most novel way of using leather is to make it up into retching chaperons. Smart models in dark blue, black and steel gray velvets are being shown.

SOCIAL PROBLEMS IN JAPAN

Changed Conditions of Recent Years Have Brought Vital Questions Prominently to the Front.

Social questions have come to attract increased attention in Japan of late. "Relief of the poor" formerly meant charity by the upper classes, but no voluntary charity is now sufficient to relieve the poor. All social questions have thus greatly changed during the last few years. The relations between the house owner and the lessors have hitherto been of a private character, but the latest tendency is that they are taken as a social question of public importance.

In view of this great change in social affairs, it is very satisfactory to learn that the Tokyo authorities are arranging to establish a social bureau in the city office to deal with domestic questions. There are many things to be done by the social bureau. It should establish cheap eating houses, provide free medical treatment and establish an office to give aid and counsel to the people on all their affairs.

It is also important that the authorities should provide healthy means of amusement. To the upper classes amusement is nothing more than amusement in its literal sense, but it is a necessity of life to the lower classes. The question of food and nourishment also calls for urgent attention on the part of the proposed bureau.

BLACK LETTERS, AND WHITE

Scientific Reason Why the Former Are Better Adapted for Being Read at a Distance.

There is a tendency on the part of railroads to adopt signs with white letters on a black background, not realizing that the black letter on a white background is easier to read and can be seen at a greater distance. This follows in an interesting way from the structure of the retina of the eye.

Black letters grow thinner at the limit of vision and are still recognizable, while at the same distance white letters grow thicker and cannot be distinguished. There are circumstances, however, when it is necessary to use white letters, but in such cases legibility will be improved if they are made with a thin stroke and strongly lighted. Black letters are more distinct if made with a heavy stroke.

EURE OF GOOD JOB.

Rome was burning.

"I may be a flivver as an emperor," chirped Nero to Petronius, "but you've gotta hand it to me as a producer of lighting effects. In my next incarnation I'll probably have a real job."

GOOD REASON.

"Why don't you try cooking with electricity?"

"Because we are trying to keep down current expenses."

MEAN REGRET.

SYNOPSIS OF THE DONOHUE ROAD LAW

This law was passed by the Legislature in 1895, and was later amended in 1917, and again in 1919.

The general purpose of the Donohue Road Law is to provide for the permanent improvement of main roads, the county to bear one-half of the cost of such general improvement from the County Road and Bridge Fund, the Road District within which the road may be located to bear one-fourth the cost, and a Special Assessment District to bear the other one-fourth of the cost.

The boundaries of the Special Assessment District are defined by law as being lines drawn parallel to the center line of the highway and two miles on each side thereof. Thus, the Assessment District as such, will comprise an area four miles wide following the center line of the highway.

The cost of the improvement may be paid in not to exceed ten equal annual installments, so far as the property in the Assessment District is concerned. For this purpose the petition should specify the number of installments desired for the Assessment District. The Board of County Commissioners have no power to change this number. The Commissioners, however, do have the power to, in their discretion, fix the number of years within which the improvement shall be paid for so far as the general County Road and Bridge Fund is concerned, and so far as the Road District Fund is concerned; but in no event can these installments exceed ten in number.

An improvement proceeding is started by filing with the Board of County Commissioners a petition asking for such improvement, signed by interested property owners who own, and specify in the petition property to a total value of ten thousand dollars for each mile of road to be improved. Thus, a petition for a five-mile road must be signed by property owners representing an assessed value of property to an amount of at least fifty thousand dollars.

Furthermore, the petition must be signed by property owners representing property within the Assessment District, as such, to the total of at least five thousand dollars per mile. Thus, a petition for a five-mile road improvement must be signed by petitioners representing property of the assessed value of at least fifty thousand dollars, of which at least twenty-five thousand dollars of the assessed value of property must be withheld in the proposed Assessment District.

Upon the filing of the petition with the Board of County Commissioners, a bond must also be filed with the Board in at least the sum of one thousand dollars to guarantee the county against any expense which it may incur in making the preliminary investigation by the engineer of the feasibility of the road improvement.

When the cost of the improvement is known, the Board of County Commissioners are authorized by law to issue Road Improvement Bonds to the amount of such cost and pay the contractor with the proceeds derived by the sale of such bonds.

When the total assessment within the Assessment District against all of the contiguous lots and tracts of a single owner amounts to $25.00, or less, such improvement assessment is required by law to be paid in cash and not in installments for a term of years.

Whatcom County has made more highway improvements under the Donohue Road Law than any other county in the State of Washington, although nearly one-half of the counties are now provided with the necessary plans and specifications and do the necessary engineering work.

Thereafter, when the plans for the improvement are ready, bids are called for and a contract is let for the doing of the work in the regular way.

After the work has been ordered by the Board of County Commissioners, the Board is required by law to appoint an appraiser, three suitable persons who own no property in the proposed Assessment District. This board of appraisers is required by law to make a careful investigation of all the property within the limits of the proposed Assessment District and to distribute proportionately among such several properties their proportion of the cost of the improvement to be borne by the Assessment District, namely, one-fourth of the total cost. They are also to assess against the county one-half of the cost of the improvement and against the Road District one-fourth of the cost of the improvement. This Board is required to submit its report within sixty days after it commences work. Upon the filing of such report, a date of hearing is fixed thereon, at which time all persons who desire to object to the method of the distribution of the cost of the improvement to be borne by the Assessment District are required to appear before the Board and make their proper objections. After consideration and, if necessary, after modification of the proposed assessments, as shown upon this report, the Board of County Commissioners are to make an order confirming the assessments; and, thereafter, they will be paid annually, appearing as a part of the general county taxes.

When the cost of the improvement is known, the Board of County Commissioners are authorized by law to issue Road Improvement Bonds to the amount of such cost and pay the contractor with the proceeds derived by the sale of such bonds.

When the total assessment within the Assessment District against all of the contiguous lots and tracts of a single owner amounts to $25.00, or less, such improvement assessment is required by law to be paid in cash and not in installments for a term of years.

Whatcom County has made more highway improvements under the Donohue Road Law than any other county in the State of Washington, although nearly one-half of the counties are now provided with the necessary plans and specifications and do the necessary engineering work.

Whence comes the name of "POISON"?

POISON

No one would knowingly take doses of anything labeled poison. Yet there are thousands of people with aching teeth and gums swollen with pyorrhoea, swallowing doses of poison that are undermining their health to an alarming extent. Stomach trouble, diseased tonsils, swollen joints, rheumatism and nervous disorders are direct results of tooth poisons. If you have had teeth in your mouth—swelling on your gums—the so-called "gum balls" you may know that in all likelihood YOU are daily taking doses of this deadly poison. A careful examination will put your dental condition quickly before you.

Out of town patients whose time is limited given special attention.

posing to construct very substantial road improvements under this law. King County last year made two improvements under this law, both being comparatively short pieces of road. The proposed improvement of the main road on Vashon Island, if it should be carried through, will be the longest improvement so far made in King County under this law.

TALLEST INDIAN TOWER.

A cliff dwelling called Square Tower house having a high tower situated midway in its length, has been discovered in the Mesa Verde National park, Colorado. This tower is 40 feet high, and is the highest building constructed of masonry by Indians north of Mexico, before the coming of the whites. It also furnishes the best-known example of pre-historic masonry shown in the construction of the roofs of two circular rooms. The original rafters are still in place, showing the marks of stone implements used by the builders. The whole ruin measures 136 feet in length.

PULPWOOD IN MONTANA.

Unlimited quantities of timber suitable for wood pulp used in the making of paper are available in Montana and would furnish material for a huge industry, according to J. C. Van Hook, state forester. The big drawback is transportation, and this factor has been largely responsible for the failure to develop the paper industry in the state.

THE PEOPLE'S FORUM

SELECTING TEACHERS

By R. G. Williams

Every necessary institution represents individually several responsibilities. But there is one of many, the acceptance of which determines largely the effect of all others. The public school institution is no exception to this, and the greatest responsibility of this institution devolves upon the board of directors. This class of representatives, apart from its being subject to much criticism, much of which is not altogether encouraging, assumes a greater moral responsibility than any other representative class of this world. For the reason that the institution represented is, in many respects, the greatest and most important institution in existence. The church stands first in moral fundamentals, but the public school institution is the greatest primarily.

The responsibility of such an institution includes enforcement of the thought that anyone would never be a member of its board for human honors. Nor is it a matter of wonder that many deemed eligible and solicited for the position refuse the honor when weighed against the responsibility keenly sensed and realized. The responsibility can be accepted only through a personal appreciation of the moral duty which must be assumed. This being so, while owing to the complications of the position, criticism cannot be avoided, a much more appreciative regard should be shown this class for the valuable service it renders.

Two Matters of Obligation

There are two vital obligations embodied in this position applying to the selection and employment of instructors. The first applies relatively to the social principle. The social life and standing of the instructor should correspond with the highest principle of education. The real objective of education is spiritual development. The board of representatives or the teacher that sees no farther in the purpose of the institution than the point of a secular acquirement is short visioned indeed, and lacks the essential of meeting the obligations of the institution. According to the decree of every human requirement is to be held subservient to the spiritual nature.

This means that the chief objective of the teaching profession is to the point of developing that nature, and all other objectives are but secondary. Since the social life has much to do with making or undermining the basic principle of this nature, and since this applies to jurisdiction and authority, the teacher is under responsibility to so act socially as to foster this principle.

The Teacher the Pupil's Ideal

The teacher is the pupil's ideal. And the pupils being impressionable and susceptible and imitative they will unconsciously imbibe the suggestions of the teacher. The teacher has more to do in forming character than have parents. Because the subjects are more in direct personal contact with the teacher than with their parents. So that the mold of the social and moral life of the teacher is that by which the pupils take their moral and spiritual shape.

It is feared that many school boards and teachers do not appreciate this matter of fact to its merit. The teacher stands in her or his position with moral destinies in their hands. The matter creative of those destinies is plastic, hence ever taking form under the direction of the instructor, not in a technically educational sense, so much, but in a highly moral respect.

The secular training, again we say, while important and necessary in a hundred respects, is not the highest objective of the function of teaching. And the social life of the teacher shows the moral fitness for the high and responsible position.

Another Side

This social point has another side to it, a side that applies directly to the teacher but indirectly to the pupil. The teacher to be in order to meet the requirements of secular instruction must have and retain, as near as possible, a normal physical and mental efficiency. Any personally responsible act which depletes the efficiency principle leaves the teacher of course incapacitated for a service measuring to the obligation of the contract of the teacher's acceptance. So that first, such a self-incapacitation involves the principle of dishonesty as concerning the employing board. This principle itself disqualifies the teacher morally for the most worthy and important position. But such self-affection involves an injustice to the pupils and others concerned. If social dissipation is practiced, not only is the teaching function depleted ordinarily but the teacher's physical being and mental powers are weakened, and consequently the pupils are made victims of peevishness, petulance and unjustifiable discipline. Such conduct produces a resentful spirit on the part of the pupil, which is but natural, though of necessity not always audibly expressed, and as a result of the whole corresponding matter the pupil's capacity for learning is lessened, hence a moral injustice is done to pupils, parents and the whole of future society. The misappropriation of the Sabbath, making it a means of recuperation from the effect of previous dissipation, would alone be a moral injustice to all concerned; but the other matter referred to adds deplorably to that wrong.

We are glad to know that many look at the teaching profession seriously, regarding the responsibility involved.

It is to be hoped that others may, since by virtue of its character it is a self-sacrificing profession.

The Religious Side of the Profession

The teaching profession has a religious side to it, which has been indirectly included in the foregoing. But religion should mean more than a mere creedal matter. The principle of faith is embodied in the term. We have said that the development of the spiritual nature is the chief objective of the teaching profession. This means, too, that the religious faith of the instructor should correspond with the faith generally represented by the school. A teacher with a faith different from that represented by the school cannot do justice to the school and the community represented. What is more, the school, respectively, will more or less imbibe the sentiments of that opposite faith. The personal principle of faith may be held very negatively, yet even at that an uncorresponding influence will inevitably emanate from it detrimentally. The Roman Catholic denomination has ever appreciated this fact, hence no one of opposite faith can be employed in any of the institutions of learning under the auspices of that denomination. This cannot be considered a personal matter, nor is that denomination to be censured for the position taken. It is a logical position according to the inevitable influence of a religious faith. Every institution of learning, secular as well as religious, should take the same position. But, not only as a discrimination as regarding religious faiths, but as a matter of justice to the many well-fitted teachers, who are embarrassingly idle through the positions to which they have a rightful claim being occupied by teachers who have no moral right to them. We want it to be thoroughly understood that personalities are not intentionally used at this point. We are writing from point of principle, and, while we would not add a sign of criticism to the overly much criticism now heaped upon the representative boards whose responsibility it is largely to determine this matter, yet I claim it is a point well taken, and in justice to the many the discrimination should be made on both sides alike.

We are not urging the subject in reference to the loss many communities have to morally and religiously sustain as a consequence of this unfair, aye, and unwise employment, but principally upon the basis of moral fairness and justice.

Perhaps this matter with all unfair dealings will be adjusted in their turn during the future process of human developments.
